To whom this may concern:

Norannmar Inc. first worked with Jim Booth from mid-2000 to mid-2001 on the design / build / construction of our new facility at 50 Admiral Boulevard in Mississauga.

Our selection of their company resulted from their un-solicited suggestions during the bidding process on how to accomplish our goals while staying within budget. Going forward, their flexibility was an asset when dealing on our behalf with the architect, City planners and inspectors and all the trades. From site plan submission to final approval, they successfully completed the building on an accelerated (we had a firm deadline to vacate our rental premises) build schedule.

Quality of workmanship? Six years later, when we needed to build a 2,000 square foot mezzanine, Jim Booth at Jeffrey G. Wallans Construction was our first choice.

Our application was challenging as the project required working right in the middle of our building and around our warehouse shelving without disrupting production. Once again, construction was completed on budget and as per plan in spite of being limited by time and space constraints.

We continue to receive many compliments from customers when they tour our facility. Jeffrey G. Wallans Construction was an important part of our team in making this happen.

Trusting this meets your approval, we remain,

Yours very truly,
NORANNMAR INC.
